CCPS Issues an Alert for Potential Inclement Weather Conditions

JONESBORO – Clayton County Public Schools' (CCPS) leadership is sharing a report from the National Weather Service indicating that conditions associated with a strong storm system may affect our area Thursday, February 16, through the morning hours of Friday, February 17, 2023. The system is expected to produce heavier than normal rainfall in our area with a potential for damaging winds and isolated tornadoes. The storm system is associated with a cold front pushing through our area.

Families are advised to prepare students for the potential conditions by dressing them appropriately in rain gear, including umbrellas if available, and warm clothing. It is possible that weather conditions may cause delays in bus transportation. If this occurs, parents/guardians may want to consider transporting their students to school as a way of mitigating the storm's impact on their instructional day.

While the school district will continue to monitor conditions throughout Wednesday, February 15, we encourage everyone to be safe and stay connected for updated information regarding any potential weather issues through the following outlets:

- All television and radio stations in the Metro Area
- CCPS SchoolMessenger phone and email
- CCPS Infinite Campus portal
- CCPS Information – e-blast to employees and stakeholders
- CCPS Channel 24 (accessible through the CCPS Website)
- CCPS Website: www.clayton.k12.ga.us
- CCPS Social Media platforms and CCPS Mobile APP
