Kashera Guy Robinson - Georgia's Top School Social Worker

JONESBORO – Clayton County Public Schools (CCPS) congratulates Ms. Kashera Guy Robinson on being named School Social Worker of the Year by the School Social Workers Association of Georgia (SSWAG).

Kashera Guy Robinson is a Licensed Clinical Social Worker (LCSW) who has served CCPS for 19 years. As a member of the district's School Social Work Department, Ms. Robinson has served on the Clayton County Attendance Protocol Committee, assisted in the creation and operation of a clothing closet, and actively engaged with the School Social Work Week Committee. She has also assisted with the Holiday Food Drive, Resource Fair, and a 5K fundraiser sponsored by Luxottica's Gift of Sight Program.

During her assignment at Forest Park High School, she was able to create and conduct a number of therapeutic groups including a grief group, an attendance group for chronically absent girls, and an anxiety group for girls struggling to return to school amidst the COVID-19 crisis. She has also served as a mentor to newly hired school social workers and Master of Social Work interns.
